Description

Regimental buttons — metal uniform buttons carrying regimental or service crests and devices, for dress and service uniforms, supplied in brass, nickel, blackened or anodised finishes.

Buttons are a small item with a long procurement tail, because a regiment holds the same pattern for decades and needs replacements that match what is already in the stores. That makes die accuracy and consistent finish the specification, rather than unit price. Finish choice follows the order of dress, with polished brass for parade and subdued finishes for field use. Produced to a customer's own die or crest drawing. Contact us with your crest artwork or a sample button, the finish and the quantity.
